To Ask Billions More for Military Needs of Nation

Better Teeth, Is Ruling by Military For Men in Draft

Men Must Have 16 Teeth
in 'Proper Position';
Will Stress Emotions
Less in Future

Washington, July 18 (AP)—The army's forthcoming draftees must have better teeth than was required for World War II duty, but they need not be quite so stable emotionally.

And in the event of a war a general reduction in standards for military service is in prospect, so that many men who once might have been rated 4-F may shoulder arms.

Furthermore, plans are under way to see that, in such an emergency, 4-Fs are funneled into suitable essential jobs in which they might be needed.

These were developments today as draft boards over the nation began filing the army's demand for 20,000 replacements by Sept. 30.

The draftees will take the place of men being sent overseas because of the Korean crisis. There may be another draft call next month, Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey said yesterday.

"And if things continue to grow worse, it may be necessary to tighten the law concerning exemptions of veterans and the regulations concerning dependents."

Must Have 16 Teeth
An army spokesman said that men now being drafted must have at least 16 teeth "in proper position" in order to be accepted.

During World War II men were admitted no matter how bad their teeth. The higher qualification, the spokesman said, is due to a shortage of dentists in the army and the inability of the Defense Department to provide unlimited upper and lower plates.

On the other hand, the army has reduced its standards to admit "mild" neuropsychiatric cases. During the war no known psychoneurotics were admitted.

The spokesman said men afflicted with nervousness or agitation now may be admitted for service in the zone of the interior.

"We found during the war that

Also Will Seek Limited Powers of Priority on Items

Washington, July 18 (AP)—President Truman will call for more men, money and authority to deal with the Korean crisis tomorrow but, one Congressional leader said, will not now seek a tax increase.

The President set aside much of today for work on final drafts of his two Wednesday messages—a report to Congress at 11 a. m., E.S.T., and a broadcast to the people at 8:30 p. m., E.S.T.

As pieced together from a dozen sources in the capital, Mr. Truman's requests to Congress were expected to include:

An additional $5,000,000,000 to $6,000,000,000 in military spending authority.

Permission to increase by 200,000 men or more the authorized strength of the armed forces—or, about 770,000 above today's actual strength.

Limited powers of priority and allocation, to channel steel and other materials into arms production, by voluntary means if possible and compulsory means if necessary.

Anti-Inflation Measures
Anti-inflation measures including curbs on consumer credit but not including the price, wage, or rationing powers of World War II.

Higher taxes have been predicted freely by officials as the Korean "police action" mushroomed into war proportions. Senator Lucas of Illinois, Democratic leader in the Senate, told a reporter, however, he does not expect Mr. Truman to ask higher rates at this time.

If more revenues are needed, Mr. Truman can call for them when the new Congress convenes in January. This does not, however, necessarily rule out his pending request for a "moderate" increase.

One report was that the bulk of the new military requests would be in the form of contract authority—that is, to order things for which the money would be appropriated later. This would mean that the bills would be quite a while in appearing. It also would indicate plans to order the heavier types of equipment, rather than readily available small items.

Growing Tendency
There was a growing tendency in Washington to regard the costs of Korea as only a first installment on a possibly long and heavy burden of defense spending and foreign military aid.

The assault on Korea—a warning that Communist armies may strike at peaceful neighbors—is expected to cause a re-weighing of the entire program of the North Atlantic Alliance.

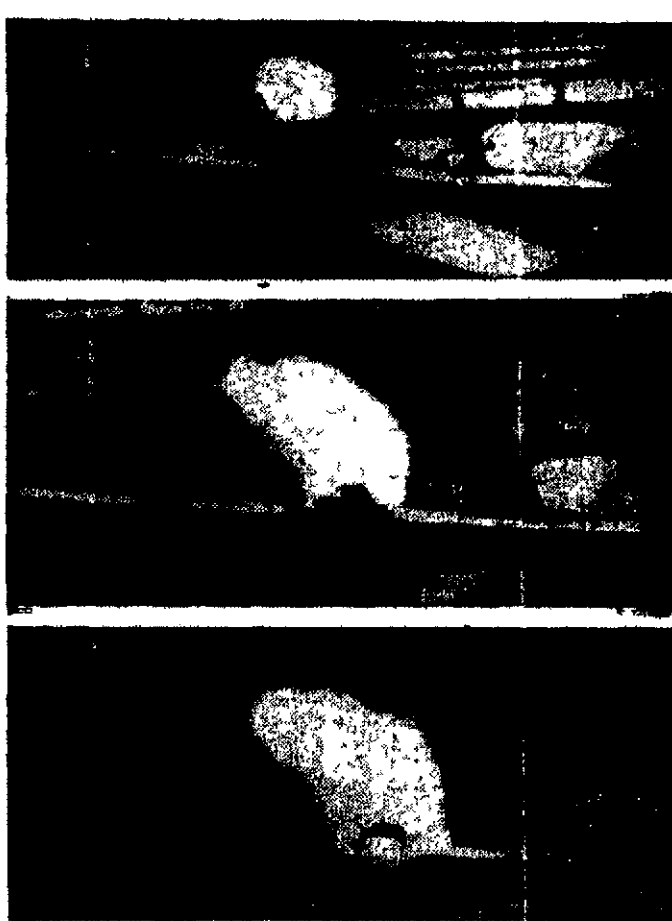

Speedier rearmament of democratic countries in Europe and elsewhere is highly probable, informed officials said, and may be the subject of urgent presidential messages to Congress later on.

Debate was scheduled to open today in the House on the $1,222,500,000 foreign military aid bill, which cleared the Senate without a dissenting vote.

To Approve Measure
The House was expected to approve the measure overwhelmingly.

Correspondent Declares
Planes Slow Red Push
Toward Taejeon

Tokyo, July 18 (AP)—American troops who blunted the Red North Korean drive at the Kum river stood between Taejeon and the invaders tonight, ready for battle but finding no enemy troops approaching.

There was little action at the front. Artillery and United Nations planes struck wherever the enemy appeared.

Taejeon had been evacuated by advanced American field headquarters. The South Korean provisional government pulled out last week.

Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, who personally led an infantry column against a Red roadblock in Saturday's heavy fighting at the Kum, said the Communists had not been able to put their tanks across the river in force.

At a command post after four days at the front, Dean, commander of the U. S. 24th Infantry Division, said the Communists had not dented the new American positions north and west of the city of 150,000.

General MacArthur in Tokyo and an Eighth Army spokesman in Korea reported all American lines intact in the area. The Eighth Army spokesman credited the 24th Division with having fought the Reds "almost to a standstill."

Pouring Reinforcements
The Reds were reported pouring reinforcements across the Kum river. They wanted a foot hold there by sheer manpower from the thin line of Americans in the Kongju area, 20 miles northwest of Taejeon. But the spokesman at Eighth Army headquarters in Korea said only four North Korean tanks had been reported south of the river.

So quiet were the Reds, MacArthur's communique said, that the outnumbered, battle weary 24th Division sent out patrols in an effort to find out the enemy's movements.

MacArthur's communique at 2:35 p. m. (11:35 p. m. E.S.T., Monday) said "no" change had been reported during the night or early today along the Tusaak-ak (Eighth Army in Korea-South Korean) front line positions as far as pressure from the Communist invaders is concerned.

William R. Moore reported from the battle zone that air power appeared to be slowing the Red drive at Taejeon.

Armor Kept From Moving
American planes, he said, seemed to have kept North Korean armor from moving against the Americans around the city.

Far East Air Force Headquarters said tank-hunting fighters were sweeping the battle area in good weather. In a special communique covering operations up to 2 p. m. (11 p. m. E.S.T., Monday) F.E.A.F. added three tanks and 28 trucks in Monday's bag of 21 tanks and 143 trucks. The Monday totals were in communique at 1:25 p. m. (9:35 p. m. E.S.T., Monday).

The South Korean First Corps, holding the front of the eastern side of the Americans around Taejeon, have reorganized their defensive positions, MacArthur said.

But it also reported the Reds were moving reinforcements to their Fifth Division, which was driving southward from Tanyang, 60 miles northeast of Taejeon.

Red Force Stopped
This Red force, striking for American supply lines, was reported stopped by counterattacks along South Korean Sunday in the Yechon area about 20 miles south of Taejeon. U. S. supplies moved to the northwest from the big port of Pusan in southeastern Korea.

Allied warships, MacArthur reported, shelled the east coast again. Their guns chewed off earth that plunged down across

Three Are Killed At West Coxsackie

West Coxsackie, N. Y., July 18 (AP)—Three persons were killed today when an automobile crashed into the rear of a parked truck.

State police identified the dead as Stanley Drabick, 35, and his wife, Eleanor J. Drabick, 26, both of Albany, and Richard Anable, 32, of Leeds, Greene county.

The police said Anable was A.W.O.L. from the army. They identified him as the driver of the car.

The truck driver, Raymond A. Buker, 52, of Albany, said he was changing a rear tire when the northbound car rammed into his vehicle. He said he had put out flares. Buker was not injured.

The accident occurred on Route 9W, about two miles north of here. The truck was carrying mail to Albany.

'Fraud and Hoax' Label Given by Democrats to Probe

Washington, July 18 (AP)—"A fraud and a hoax"—that's the label slapped on Republican Senator McCarthy's Communists-in-government charges by the Democratic majority of a Senate investigating committee.

A report signed by all three Democrats on the committee—Senators Tydings (Md.), Green (R. I.) and McMahon (Conn.)—asserts that:

McCarthy used "the totalitarian technique of the big lie" in waging "perhaps the most nefarious campaign of half-truths and untruths in the history of this republic."

McCarthy retorted that the re-

Speedy Passage Is Seen for Bills Regulating Home Front

Washington, July 18 (AP)—Senatorial committees looked forward to investigations of the military effort and of sharply rising food prices today while Congress awaited President Truman's mobilization blue print for the Korean fighting.

In advance of a formal message to the lawmakers tomorrow, the President had assurance from legislative leaders of quick action on proposals he may lay down then.

Those were expected to include authority to lift the military manpower ceiling, to curb credit and to parcel out scarce materials for war plants.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, predicted speedy passage of bills to put the President's program into effect, including an increase in military funds. Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) said the House will act swiftly.

Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) said he is certain the Senate Armed Services Committee—launching an inquiry by a seven-member subgroup into military production needs—would back any rise Mr. Truman believes necessary in the authorized strength of the fighting forces.

Chairman Maybank (D-S.C.) set out to prove with a Senate Banking Committee investigation beginning Thursday that there is plenty of food on hand in the country and that there is no need for rationing and no reason for price increases.

No Cause For Price Rises
"There is no sense in prices going up as they have," Maybank said. "I'm told the price of eggs has gone up 3 cents a dozen when the government has eggs in storage that it can't give away."

There is just as much meat as there was a few days ago and no reason for meat prices increasing. "We are going to call some of these people who have been putting up their prices and see why they have done it."

Tydings said he may name the seven-member Military Investigating Subcommittee later in the week. It would be patterned after the War Investigating Committee which a senator until his election as a senator in 1944 headed as a senator.

"It will be the committee's job to see that the boys who are doing the fighting in Korea—or anywhere else that fighting may

Fourth American Seized in Spy Ring

Rosenberg Linked Allegedly to Klaus Fuchs; Is Held in Jail

New York, July 18 (AP)—The fourth American allegedly linked to Russia's Klaus Fuchs atom spy ring was seized at his home here last night by the F.B.I.

He is 32-year-old Julius Rosenberg—a balding, bespectacled engineer, married and father of two children.

The Department of Justice charged him with conspiracy to commit espionage, and said he had recruited for a cloak-and-dagger Soviet spy apparatus that penetrated America's atomic secrets.

He was arraigned and held behind bars in lieu of $100,000 bail for a Federal Court hearing on July 31. His attorney insisted he was innocent.

"Rosenberg is another important link in the Soviet espionage apparatus," F.B.I. Director J. Edgar Hoover said in Washington, where the arrest was announced.

In the past two months the government has arrested three other Americans it says were implicated in the spy ring headed by Dr. Klaus Fuchs, the German-born Communist sympathizer who

New Delhi, India, July 18 (AP)—Twenty-two persons, including five Americans, were killed yesterday in the crash of an Indian National Airways plane in the Himalayan foothills near Kashmir during a heavy rainstorm.

The cause of the crash has not been determined. The DC-3 plane was missing for 12 hours before villagers found wreckage in a river bed near the town of Pothohar. It was on a non-stop flight from New Delhi to Srinagar, capital of Kashmir.

Test Proves Accurate

Paris, July 18 (AP)—A new blood test has so far proved almost 100 per cent accurate in detecting cancer in humans, three Swiss physicians reported today. They told the Fifth International Cancer Research Congress the test is based on a chemical that appears in the blood of persons with cancer. The chemical breaks down a certain kind of sugar, pentose sugar. The test is made by adding blood serum from the person to a solution of the sugar. The method was described by Dr. Georges Menkes, Dr. P. Rentschler and Dr. S. Steenm, of Geneva. The test was tried on 200 persons with various kinds of cancer. It was 98 per cent right. An improved version was employed on the second hundred. Dr. Menkes said it was almost 100 per cent accurate.

Fourth American

worked his way to the top of Britain's atomic program.

Serving Long Term

Fuchs confessed and now is serving a long prison term in England.

The three Americans seized as a result of Fuchs's disclosures were Harry Gold, a Philadelphia biochemist; Alfred Dean Slack, a chemist, of Syracuse, N. Y.; and David Greenglass, a New York machinist and former U. S. Army sergeant.

All were charged with wartime espionage—a charge that can mean the death penalty.

The F.B.I. announcement said the American-born Rosenberg's part in the ring was the recruiting of Greenglass—then stationed at the atomic bomb laboratories at Los Alamos, N. M.—to work with Gold.

Like a character in a fictional spy drama, Rosenberg gave Greenglass an oddly cut top from a jello box to be matched with the other half as a recognition signal with Gold, the F.B.I. said.

As a result, Greenglass turned over bomb data to both Gold and Rosenberg in 1945, the agency said.

Gave Instructions

"Rosenberg gave Greenglass specific instructions as to the type of information Russia desired," Hoover declared.

At their first meeting in June, 1945, Hoover said, "Greenglass was paid $500 by Gold, who obtained it from his Soviet superior, Anatoli A. Yakovlev, Soviet vice consul in New York city."

Hoover added that after Gold was arrested last May, Rosenberg warned Greenglass to flee the country and gave him "substantial funds" to do so.

Rosenberg told Greenglass to get a passport for Mexico, travel to Switzerland, and then report to the Soviet Embassy in Czechoslovakia, Hoover said.

Hoover said Rosenberg's offense was accentuated because he "aggressively sought ways and means to conspire with the Soviet government to the detriment of his own country."

He also said Rosenberg made himself available to Soviet agents to "do something to directly help Russia."

Quick Action

break out—are given the best in weapons and support that this country can provide," Tydings said.

Industry Mobilization Needed

Rep. Sikes (D-Fla.) told the House yesterday that "it is becoming apparent that limited industrial mobilization will be necessary."

That was the sort of mobilization leaders hinted Mr. Truman is planning, not a return to full wartime price and rationing controls proposed in a bill introduced by Rep. Klein (D-N. Y.).

However, a group of Senate Republicans took the lead in demanding greater industrial and military mobilization than the President seems to want at this time.

Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) called for immediate mobilization of American manpower and industry, asserting that the United States must recognize that it is involved in a major war in Korea.

"In sober truth," Lodge told the Senate, "our very national existence is at stake."

Senator Morse (R-Ore.) told his colleagues that the government ought to slap price controls on a few essential commodities to stop what he called "profiteering" in foods.

Senator Brewster (R-Me.) said that if President Truman doesn't go pretty far in recommending industrial mobilization, a number of Republicans are planning to urge that the nation be put on a war footing.

the coastal highway and blocked Communist transport.

MacArthur's communique also reported the sighting of three unidentified submarines in waters bordered by Kyushu, southern island of Japan's main islands; the island of Formosa and the China mainland. Russia reportedly has a large undersea fleet based on Siberia.

Behind the Korean battlefield, Superfortress bombers ranged again Monday against Communist communications. The big craft blasted railroad yards at Chechon, Wonsu and Ansong. Others revised Seoul's big Kimpo airfield.

Casualties Are 11,000

MacArthur estimated Red casualties in the war at 11,000, but said accurate figures were impossible.

The Red radio at Pyongyang, North Korea capital, broadcast that 2,500 U. S. troops were killed and 100 captured in fighting south of the Kum through 6 p. m. Monday (3 a. m. E.S.T.).

All American references to U. S. losses in the river battle have pictured them as light.

A spokesman at Eighth Army headquarters in Korea said at 9:50 p. m. (8:50 a. m. E.S.T.) that South Korean units in central Korea attacked Red troop concentrations in that area. The extent of the attack was not reported.

The spokesman said South Koreans inflicted "heavy losses" on a Red column encountered southwest of the American sector.

It was reported that only a few South Korean units in central Korea attacked Red troop concentrations in that area. The extent of the attack was not reported.

South Korean casualties have been light the past two days, the spokesman said. There was little activity in the American sector during the day.

tomorrow. It authorizes second-year funds to strengthen the Democratic world against Communist aggression.

Despite the general trend toward emergency action, the prospect of harsh federal controls in the near future abated somewhat.

It was reported that only a few materials—steel and such other metals as copper, zinc and lead—will be brought under federal control, even if Congress gives Mr. Truman blanket allocation authority over all materials. Aluminum would not be touched, commerce officials said, unless a greatly increased aircraft program is approved.

Mr. Truman's manpower requests, as described by one administration source, will not include a call for mobilization now of any of the 27 national guard divisions.

Father of Slain Woman Testifies Before Grand Jury

Carmel, N. Y., July 18 (AP)—The father of slain Andrea Gehr, 30, testified today before a Putnam County Grand Jury investigating a murder charge against her television director husband, Herbert Gehr.

Gehr is accused of shooting his wife when she led private detectives to his mountain cabin and surprised him with a nude woman, who fled into the woods.

The father, Dr. Max Goldschmidt, New York eye specialist, was in the grand jury room for 30 minutes. He had nothing to say as he left.

Preceding him before the grand jury was Dr. William P. Kelly of Carmel, a Putnam county coroner, who testified for about 10 minutes.

After hearing Dr. Goldschmidt, the grand jury took a short recess, after which it expected to call Gehr's companion on the night of the shooting, Mrs. Dorothea Matthews, 31. She has said she will stick by the director.

Mrs. Matthews arrived at the county building an hour after the grand jury started today's session. She rushed into the jail office and demanded that she be permitted to see Gehr. She was irritated when she was informed that the district attorney had given orders she was not to see the prisoner.

However, her attorney, Samuel Finkelstein, visited Gehr in jail and held a long conference with the director.

Mrs. Matthews herself involved in a case with her wealthy husband, Mark, concerning complex adultery charges, appeared yesterday but did not testify.

She said she had nothing to say about the case except that she was "numb all over" and that her main desire was to be reunited with her three young children.

Her husband is seeking a court order to bar her from visiting them.

"My children have never stopped praying and wishing that they might be together with me," she said.

Gehr, 49, said he did not know his wife was present when he blazed away with his .22 caliber rifle July 10, but thought he was firing at prowlers or his "wife's boy-friend."

Two state policemen called to the scene of the shooting, the photographer in Mrs. Gehr's riding party, and three of her private detectives testified yesterday.

Those called today besides Mrs. Matthews were Dr. Frank Genovese, Putnam county coroner, and Max Goldschmidt, Mrs. Gehr's father.

Explanation Unsatisfactory

New York, July 18 (AP)—New York city's investigation commissioner, James H. Sheils, said today that the five major baking companies here have produced no satisfactory explanation for their recent one cent loaf increase in the price of bread. Sheils made the statement after questioning representatives of all the companies. He is scheduled to make a formal report later to Mayor William O'Dwyer. There was no immediate comment from the baking firms—Continental Baking Company, Gordon Baking Company, General Baking Company, Ward Baking Company and Purdy Bakeries, Inc.

Hennessy Asks $71,000 in Suit

Paris, July 18 (AP)—A Paris attorney said today he had filed a suit asking 25,000,000 francs (about $71,000) damages from Air France for the death of an American man's wife in an Air France crash in the Azores last Oct. 28.

Attorney Marcel Heraud said the suit was filed for Patrick Hennessy, whose French wife, Simone Broche Hennessy, was killed in the accident, along with middle-weight boxer Marcel Cerdan. In all, 48 persons died in the accident.

Heraud said that Hennessy is now in France but declined to make known his address. At the time of the crash Hennessy was reported to own the Castle Apartments at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y.

Air France had offered compensation of 2,200,000 francs (about $6,300) which it claimed was the amount specified by international convention. The suit claims the higher amount, however, saying that the accident was due to a grave pilot error.

Heraud said that Hennessy was divorced but that he was asking the money for the couple's two children—Bridget, 10, and Elise, 8. In the divorce settlement, custody of the children had been given to Mrs. Hennessy. She had been in France settling the estate of her late father.

Slighsburg Soldier Gets Red Cross Award

Easingen, Germany, July 18—American Red Cross European Headquarters reported today that Recruit Robert F. Johnson of R.F.D. 1, Box 159, Kingston, has been awarded the Standard First Aid Certificate upon completion of an army-sponsored course in accident prevention and first aid.

Accidents in Europe are costing American taxpayers over a half-million dollars monthly, according to military sources. The Red Cross was asked to help reduce these figures by setting up educational safety courses for selected service personnel.

Recruit Johnson, who is with the 588 Ordnance Company M.A.M. at Stuttgart, Germany, was assigned to the safety school by his commanding officer. Recruit Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Johnson of Slighsburg.

Child, 5, Killed Near Binghamton

Hancock, N. Y., July 18 (AP)—Five-month-old Charles Musante of Tuckahoe was injured fatally last night when an automobile struck a tree five miles south of here. Four persons were injured. The child died in Binghamton City Hospital four hours after the accident.

In critical condition was Mrs. Mary Janetti of Corning.

The other injured were the baby's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Musante of Tuckahoe and Lawrence Schomo of New Berlin. Mrs. Musante's condition was reported as serious. The hospital said Dr. Musante's injuries were minor. Schomo was not hospitalized.

Women Like Tags On Window Items

Albany, N. Y., July 18 (AP)—Women in New York state "prefer" to shop in the morning, but they don't usually do it then.

The majority of women "window shop" at night and they like to see price tags on the merchandise displayed.

These preferences were reported in a State Commerce Department survey in 29 communities.

About half of the women shoppers use some form of credit. The department reported that about three-fourths of those said they used charge accounts rather than installment plans.

Knox Approves Splitting Plan

New York, July 18 (AP)—A plan for splitting up $422,711 in union checkoff dues in plants of the General Electric Company has been approved by Federal Judge John C. Knox.

It is estimated that about $225,000 will go to the C.I.O.'s International Union of Electrical Workers (I.U.E.) and $197,711 to its rival, the United Electrical Workers (U.E.).

The C.I.O. set up the I.U.E. after ousting the U.E. on the ground of Communist domination.

I.U.E. Counsel Ben Sigal made the estimate of the split yesterday after Judge Knox approved the arrangement.

Sigal said his I.U.E. won 56,000 N.L.R.B. votes in 41 General Electric plants, and the U.E. won 40 plants with 34,000 votes.

The company started the federal court action last December when the bitter rivalry between the unions caused conflicting claims for the dues the company had collected, and threatened the company with law suits.

Rogge Joins Wallace

South Hadley, Mass., July 18 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace has been joined by O. John Rogge, vice president of the Progressive party, in his split with party leaders over the Korean war. Rogge backed United Nations and United States action in Korea yesterday, as did Wallace, the party's 1948 presidential candidate, last Saturday.

"The Communist aggression must be opposed," Rogge told the Mt. Holyoke Institute on the United Nations. He said he "could not condone change by violence."

BUYING IN THE COUNTRY

When is a farm market stand not a farm market stand? It is not when the products spread out for sale have been brought by truck from city produce centers.
The opportunity to buy fresh-picked fruits and vegetables at a reasonable price, tempt many drivers to stop at roadside stands, and others drive out from the city in order to buy food at lower prices. It is confusing to find not-too-fresh products of the area cheek-by-jowl with obviously imported items, but the purchaser may safely question whether stands with such offerings are bona fide farmers' markets. It has been suggested that farmers should have some distinctive marking for their bona fide stands and that the right to use the marking should be protected.
City-dwellers are always pleased to find fresh produce, reasonably priced, to pay them for their effort in seeking it out, and farmers often develop a good-sized customer list which will make their labor profitable. The city produce man, if he enters the farmer market territory, should make his supply source obvious to the customer.

UNENDING PROPAGANDA

"Here it takes all the running you can do, to keep in the same place. If you want to get somewhere else, you must run at least twice as fast as that." This remark of the Red Queen in Lewis Carroll's "Through the Looking-Glass" might well have been made with the Russian propaganda service in mind. In his new book, "Public Opinion in Soviet Russia", Alex Inkeles of the Russian Research Center of Harvard University observes that after thirty years the government finds it necessary to maintain rigid controls over all forms of mass communication, press, radio and film. Not the least relaxation has been thought possible; indeed the tendency is quite the other way.
The message is always the same, how wonderful everything is in Russia, or will be soon, and how terrible is life in the outside world. Can the government forever make its slaves believe that?

100 YEARS OF LIFE

Attention to the day when a life span of a hundred years may be nothing unusual is the goal of a group of scientists of fourteen nations who have formed the International Association of the Gerontological Societies. The life span is lengthening in many parts of the world, and the expectation of a century of life, instead of the long traditional three score years and ten, may come soon.
But the later years of life still are not good ones. The diseases and deterioration which used to kill as age approached now often only disable, so that the years added to life are frequently years of invalidism. The new association is interested not merely in lengthening the life span, but in making normal health and activity last further into old age. It will have many good wishes.

PROBLEM OF BELGIUM

In a continent still plagued by economic questions, Belgium alone seems to be immersed in other matters. This small country's main problem is the political one of whether or not it shall be ruled by a king.
No European country except Switzerland is so prosperous as Belgium. It suffered little damage during the war or the occupation, and has had no dollar problem such as has plagued most of the other nations. Belgians still hold their overseas investments and their colonies furnish valuable products, among them uranium. Goods are plentiful; prices are high, but anyone with the money can buy. Strangely enough, proportionate unemployment there is twice as high as in the United States and seven times as high as in Britain. Unemployment insurance softens the situation, however.
The fact that the people are almost evenly divided on the question of a royal ruler seems to have little practical bearing on life in Belgium. It seems safe to assume that, whichever way the cat jumps, the daily life of the people will not be greatly changed.

'These Days'
By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

KOHLBERG'S QUESTIONS
Alfred Kohlberg is a merchant with business interests in China. He has been active for many years in anti-Communist work and years ago called attention to the Communist infiltration of the Institute of Pacific Relations. He also financed the magazine "Plain Talk," and he founded the American Jewish League Against Communism. In this work, his activities have been numerous, varied and self-sacrificing. No one who knows him can question his sincerity.
Recently, Alfred Kohlberg addressed a letter to Congressman Frank Buchanan who apparently included Kohlberg in his study of lobbying in the hope of maybe finding a lead to what Owen Lattimore called the China lobby before we went to war with Korea.
It will take more than Congressman Buchanan to find anything unsavory about the China lobby, for that is an unorganized, self-sacrificing body of thousands of men and women, most of whom have lived and worked in China and who want the American people to know the truth.
So Kohlberg wrote Buchanan a letter in which he asked Buchanan to get him 17 documents. You will recall that in the Amerasia case, 1700 documents were stolen and Senator Tydings still cannot find the thief, although his name has been spelled out in neon lights. Kohlberg's 17 requested documents are as follows:
(1) The secret report that Prime Minister MacKenzie King of Canada brought in person to President Truman in 1945 naming 150 of the Soviet atom spies in the U.S.A., of whom not one has been arrested.
(2) The secret agreement of Teheran, dated December 1945, turning over Poland to the U.S.S.R.
(3) The full Henry Wallace report on China, written by Lattimore (about 70 pages) and the two telegrams by Wallace from New Delhi dated June 28, 1944.
(4) The telegram from Roosevelt to Chiang Kai-shek dated October 9, 1944, demanding the turning over of the civil government to Stilwell and the Communies on pain of breaking our alliance and throwing China out of the U.N.
(5) The secret instructions to General Marshall when he left for China about December 15, 1945.
(6) The orders to General Eisenhower to General Patton's advance in Czechoslovakia and his own advance on Berlin, so the Russians could have both.
(7) The White House order, signed by Lathin Currie, about June 1945, countermanning the joint chiefs of staff order to General Eisenhower assigning surrendered German arms to China. It ordered all destroyed, instead.
(8) The secret order to General Suits in India, about July 1945, ordering all arms, ammunition and planes, en route to China (both American and Chinese lend-lease) destroyed.
(9) The secret G2 report on the Katyn massacre, where the Russians, in 1941, slaughtered 10,000 surrendered Polish officers.
(10) The secret Lattimore agreement, July 1945, recognizing Soviet supremacy in all the undeveloped, backward areas of Asia.
(11) General Douglas MacArthur's report of 1948 to the secretary recommending policy for the Far East.
(12) The full list of assets, of all kinds, of former Prime Ministers H. H. Kung and T. V. Soong of China, which Assistant Secretary of State Hickson claims total $350 million. Senator Knowland informed the Senate that Messrs. Kung and Soong authorize its publication.
(13) The secret memo of conversation with Prime Minister Nehru of India last fall, advising that he recognize Communist China, to be followed by Britain and then by us.
(14) The secret memo from Lattimore, to Jessup, to Trygve Lie, to Abraham Feiler, advising that Nationalist China be replaced on the Security Council of the United Nations without recognition, and that the United States should approve.
(15) The secret White House order for the postwar destruction of American arms and planes in Europe, accounting for the full equipment of more than 60 divisions, according to the Hoover report. Secretary Acheson now wants you to vote new billions to replace these arms for our European allies.
(16) The 30 other secret reports by so-called Far Eastern experts, which the State Department says were requested by Ambassador Jessup at the same time as the Lattimore report of last August.
(17) The secret agreement on China, dated Moscow about December 27, 1945.
This is a very good list to start with and maybe if we had them all, we might understand better why our sons are dying in Korea. We should not permit a new war to be fought on our minds as to the cause of disaster and treacheries that brought us so close to disaster.

That Body of Yours
By James W. Barton, M.D.
TREATMENT OF HARDNESS OF HEARING
The time may soon come when the hard-of-hearing will all be willing to use the excellent hearing aids now available. Every year there appear to be more of these individuals using hearing aids with great pleasure to themselves and convenience to their families and others.
There are some cases in which a surgical operation greatly increases the degree of hearing and still others in which blowing open the Eustachian tube, which carries air from throat to middle ear, prevents further loss of hearing.
In many cases cutting down on all liquids and table salt and on food helps relieve the hardness of hearing and the head noises because less fluid is present in and about the balancing canals (excess fluid is the cause of dizziness and head noises).
However, that vitamin A can help many cases of hardness of hearing is reported by Dr. M. J. Vogel in "Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Monthly." Vitamin A in high strength is injected into the patient and quickly absorbed. Prolonged treatment with this preparation, which consists of olive oil, terpenes, and vitamin A, has brought about an appreciable gain in hearing in hard-of-hearing patients. It is injected into the muscles in doses of 50,000 units of vitamin A twice weekly.
Dr. Vogel states that vitamin A has been used by physicians to improve hearing for some time, but has failed in many cases because some gland change in the patient has prevented proper absorption of vitamin A by the blood. However, this preparation—vitamin A, olive oil and terpenes—is absorbed into the bloodstream quite readily; vitamin A is stored and terpenes (used so much in nose, throat, and chest congestions) relaxes the tissues. Vitamin A used in this manner can more easily reach the middle and inner ear.
In 300 patients treated for progressive deafness (in most cases in both ears) the amount of hearing loss did not affect the time required for improvement. Average net gain in hearing in patients receiving "prolonged" treatment (five to 24 months) was 17 per cent in right ear and 18 per cent in the left ear as compared with about 11 and 10 per cent in patients treated less than five months, although tinnitus was usually relieved after first two or three weeks of treatment.
It is, therefore, never too late to try vitamin A.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round
By DREW PEARSON

Washington — President Truman has received such grim reports on the Korean war that he not only decided on a special message to Congress asking for all-out controls, but also under consideration is the following drastic action:
1. A mass retreat, or Dunkerque, from Korea.
2. The unleashing of the atomic bomb.
Even early last week, military advisers warned the White House of the tragic possibility of a Korean Dunkerque and the evacuation of all American men and materials back to Japan. If Chinese Communist troops pour into Korea, they could force the outnumbered Americans into the sea. Therefore, a plan for wholesale evacuation is already prepared.
Simultaneously, an informal proposal has been made to issue an ultimatum to North Korea, warning the Communists to pull back to the 38th parallel or submit to atomic attack.
Military advisers to the President are considering both measures as desperate last resorts. One group is not anxious to use the atomic bomb, but they are convinced that Russia is still far behind the United States in atomic development, and that the men in the Kremlin would not risk an atomic war with us at this time.
Therefore, they argue that it would save American lives to make limited local use of the atomic bomb against North Korean troop concentrations and supply depots.
Another group of military advisers disagree with this. They believe that any use of the atomic bomb would: 1. provoke outright war with Russia; 2. lose us the moral support of the world and even of many people in our own country.
Why We're Losing
Meanwhile, here are some of the blunt, cold facts about the Korean fighting:
1. The nucleus of the Korean army is Korean veterans trained by the Japanese. After fighting as part of the Japanese army for four years, they were taken over by the Russians following V-J Day. Since then, they have been baptized by fire in Chinese fighting, and are now armed to the teeth with Russian equipment.
2. American troops not only are outnumbered but relatively green. While many of the officers and noncoms have seen combat service, most of the men in the ranks are young and, because of quick personnel turnover, not always well-trained. Japan has been considered one of the easy army berths, where living was cheap, servants numerous, and duties not arduous.
For instance, the commander of the First Cavalry Division, Maj. Hobart Gay, a fine officer, suffered a heart attack some time ago, and, not wanting to retire at the age of 55, Japan was picked for him as a soft berth. The First Cavalry Division, now armored, is supposed to be one of the crack combat outfits of the regular army. Yet its commander cannot pass a physical.
3. For reasons that the army cannot adequately explain, our tanks are no match for the 60-ton Russian monsters with 12-inch armor. Our tanks were inferior to German tanks in the recent war, and they are still inferior to enemy tanks. Not only were Russian tanks better than ours during the war, but the Russians began improving their tanks after the war, while our biggest tank, the Patton, is only just arriving in Korea now.
Russian Sub Sighted
There is no question but that Russia is directing the Korean war. However, no Russians have actually been killed or captured. There have been a dozen reports, chiefly from South Koreans, of Russian officers seen at the front, and the navy officially reported sighting one Russian submarine, which carefully stayed out of the range of American guns.
5. Nothing is being said about it publicly, but the grim Korean setbacks have raised doubts in the Pentagon building as to whether General MacArthur has the force and vigor necessary for the Korean campaign. Now 71 years old, MacArthur has been absorbed with political problems. While no one blames MacArthur for the difficulty of getting supplies to Korea, there is some resentment at his glowing promise to President Truman the night before the Korean decision was made, that he would "guarantee" success whether Russia came in or not.
Will Moscow Move?
Most worrisome development in the whole Korean defeat is the effect it is bound to have on other

U. S. Shows 'Lack of Imagination' and 'Timidity' in Fighting Psychological War; Worse Than Korean Setbacks

Washington, July 18 — Much worse than the setbacks on the Korean front are the defeats being suffered throughout the world on the psychological front both by the United States and the United Nations.
Never, it might be said, in so grave an international situation has there been such a complete lack of imagination and such timidity as is being exhibited by the United States government in fighting the psychological war.
The Soviet Union has grasped the initiative and has made flank attacks around the United States in the propaganda battles in Asia as well as in Europe.
The lazy answer to this is that the United States hasn't provided the funds — The "Marshall Plan of Ideas," as Senator Benton of Connecticut calls it. But the truth is that even if $100,000,000 is appropriated, it would be ineffective if our government fails to express its force forthrightly in the propaganda field.
More than three weeks have passed since the Kremlin put the North Korean government up to an aggression that has startled the world. The United States and the United Nations responded with military effort, as yet unsuccessful, but at the same time the Soviet Union triumphantly grasped the initiative in the propaganda side. The Russians accuse the United Nations along with the United States of sanctioning aggression. Peace petitions are being circulated with tens of thousands of signatures by the Communists in a publicity stunt which is not being combatted effectively by the western democracies.
In the face of the plain aggression in Korea, nobody in our government or in the U.N. has officially, formally and loudly called Moscow the aggressor. The United Nations, moreover, has invited American boys to be killed but politely hesitates to warn the nations helping to kill American boys that these nations are aggressors. While it is obvious that the United Nations is to supply military help against its will, it is traitorous for any member of the United Nations at the same time to be supplying arms and military power to the country which is fighting the United Nations forces.
Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan has pointed this up in a speech in the Senate in which he demands that the Washington government request the U.N. to adopt a resolution warning any nation helping the North Koreans that it will be regarded as a partner in the aggression.
The U.N. got considerable prestige by adopting a resolution calling for military forces to resist aggression in Korea, but it will rapidly lose that prestige if it

AS PEGLER SEES IT
By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, July 17—The Korean fighting is war and the President's war powers should be invoked to place in concentration camps all known members of the Communist party and suspects and all known fellow-travelers. There is clear authority for this. The Supreme Court upheld such action in two cases arising from the curfew order and the deportation order issued by General Dewitt in San Francisco in 1942 whereby Americans of Japanese ancestry, actually Americans of Japanese physiognomy, were first compelled to keep to their homes from 8 p. m. to 6 a. m. and later to report to assembly centers for evacuation.
Evacuation meant deportation, but our taste rejected the word deportation because deportation of populations by the Kaiser and Hitler, meanwhile by the Turks, had given it a bitter meaning. Nevertheless, without discrimination, we rounded up the actual Japanese and the American citizens of Japanese ancestry on the Pacific Coast and shipped them to concentration camps in the Arizona desert and elsewhere. The camp at Sacaton, an Indian reservation between Tucson and Phoenix, was bleak and forbidding, but the non-American Japanese and our Nisei, meaning American Japs, were adaptable and resourceful. They made much more of their surroundings than the Indians had. Some of them earned wages weaving camouflage tape and other industries. Family grew garden flowers, harvested the seeds. It is impossible however to put a pleasant face on the situation in which loyal American Nisei were placed. One who had owned a clothes-dressing place in California and turned his place into a friendly Japanese neighborhood had been called up in the draft and the Jap did not know what would become of his property and investment. Another had left his farm machinery in the fields and submitted to deportation. His crops were abandoned, his taxes unpaid, and his property was sold at auction for whatever it would bring which probably was a fair fixed price because there was a shortage of farm equipment. I do not know whether such victims were made whole by Congress after the war.
The Supreme Court freely admitted that the use was absolutely no evidence that individuals swept away in this deportation were guilty of anything. Justice Black, in the majority opinion, wrote "we cannot reject as unfounded the judgment of the military authorities and of Congress that there were disloyal members of that group, some of whom numbered and strength could not be pre-

Skouras' Daughter Dies of Injuries Following Plunge

Los Angeles, July 18 (AP)—Miss Dionysia C. Skouras, 23, daughter of film executive Spyros Skouras, was fatally injured yesterday when she plunged from a penthouse atop a four-story building to a sidewalk.

She died at a Receiving Hospital, having suffered fractures of the skull and both legs.

Miss Skouras, whose parents are in New York, had been mentally ill for several years and had been a patient at various hospitals. Last January she was placed in a Connecticut sanatorium at request of her father, head of 20th Century Fox Film Corp., and on recommendation of two physicians.

Recently she was brought to visit her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Skouras, in the hope that she might recover. It was from their residence that she was taken to her death. Charles Skouras is head of the Fox West Coast Theatre Group.

Had Brush With Police Westport, Conn., July 18 (AP)—Dionysia Skouras, 23-year-old daughter of film executive Spyros Skouras, who died in Los Angeles yesterday, had a spectacular brush with Connecticut police in December of 1949.

She was then living at 2 Shore Road, Rye, N. Y. Early on the morning of December 13 driving alone in a high-powered roadster, she was spotted by police at Greenwich, who clocked her at more than 80 miles an hour.

They chased her at speeds which they said exceeded 90 miles per hour through the Connecticut communities, finally catching up when Miss Skouras' car was blocked by a truck in Stamford.

Greenwich police officer Gerald Allen stepped from the police car and was leaning on the door of the Skouras roadster when Miss Skouras suddenly took off again.

The officer's coat sleeve was caught on the door handle and he was dragged several feet along the highway.

The car sped toward Darien with the Greenwich officers in pursuit.

At Darien, Officer Chauncey Dance joined the chase. When the police car got near enough Dance fired several shots, one of which punctured a rear tire. Two bullets punctured the rear compartment, one ranging through and nicking Miss Skouras on the little finger.

Forced to stop, Miss Skouras was removed from the car with some difficulty and taken to Darien Police Headquarters. She refused to explain her actions and after authorities had communicated with her father she was committed for observation.

On January 10 at a hearing before Judge of Probate Earl H. Jago and at the request of her father, she was committed to the Hall-Brooke Sanatorium here.

Discuss N. Y. Defense New York, July 18 (AP)—Atomic aspects of New York city's civil defense plans were discussed by officials yesterday. A conference was held by officials of the New York Operations Office of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, Mayor William O'Dwyer and City Civilian Defense Director Arthur W. Wallander.

Wallander, former police commissioner, said after the meeting that plans were made to have atomic energy experts explain the effects of atomic weapons to the heads of key city departments. Plans for waterfront precautions against sabotage were discussed at another meeting, between Wallander and Joseph P. Ryan, president of the A.F.L. International Longshoremen's Union.

MacArthur Orders Ban on Red Paper

Tokyo, July 18 (AP)—General MacArthur today ordered the Japanese government to "maintain indefinitely" the ban on the Communist party's newspaper Akahata (Red Flag).

MacArthur ordered the paper shut down for 30 days on June 26. He advised Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida in a letter today that international communism had assumed "an even more sinister threat to the preservation of peace" since his temporary order.

"Passing events," the letter said, "warn of distinct danger in the use by communism of the media of public information to propagate its tenets of subversion and violence."

MacArthur declared Communist propaganda to be no longer on most Japanese but the Reds would use the paper to incite "the irresponsible and lawless minority elements."

Since MacArthur's first letter, the Japanese government has suspended publication of more than 400 of the 1,008 Communist publications throughout Japan.

Moore Will Direct Special Group in School Cost Study

Albany, N. Y., July 18 (AP)—State Comptroller Frank C. Moore will direct a long-range study of the need and cost of school construction in New York state.

Governor Dewey appointed Moore yesterday as chairman of the temporary State Commission on School Buildings. The commission was created by the 1950 Legislature, which appropriated $100,000 for the study.

Dewey also appointed 14 members to the commission, which must report to the Legislature by next Feb. 15. Moore and the commission members will serve without pay.

The special unit not only will survey the need for new school buildings but will concentrate on the ability of local districts to finance construction.

It will continue and expand the work of Comptroller Moore's special committee on constitutional tax and debt limits on the school construction problem.

Stopgap Aid Proposed

That committee last winter recommended the use of stopgap state aid to help pay for emergency school construction in financially distressed districts. It also proposed the creation of a commission to make a long-range study of the subject.

The 1950 Legislature passed and Governor Dewey approved both proposals.

Dewey's announcement of the commission appointments said the group would make recommendations for "standards, construction and cost of school building requirements." It also will recommend payments to school districts under the emergency loan program.

Those Appointed

The appointments: Dr. James E. Allen, Jr., Albany, state deputy commissioner of education; Henry Bruere, New York city, board chairman, Bowery Savings Bank; Anthony Camagna, New York city, former member, city board of education; Carlton A. Cleveland, Binghamton, president, Clark-Cleveland, Inc.; Marcus G. Christ, New Hyde Park, Nassau county judge and president, County Officers Association.

Everett S. Dyck, Greenbush, executive secretary, New York State School Boards Association; Dr. Arvie Eldred, Troy, executive secretary, New York State Teachers Association; State Senator Henry W. Griffith, Palmyra, sponsor of legislation creating the commission; Assemblyman Walter M. Canastota, chairman, public education committee; William Reid, former deputy mayor of New York city.

Hugh W. Robertson, White Plains, vice-president, Westchester County Publishers, Inc.; Mrs. Robert B. Rowe, Rochester, president, State Congress of Parents and Teachers; Henry D. Sherwood, Pine Plains, master, New York State Grange, and Charles A. Upson, Lockport, board chairman, Upson Company.

Woman Writer Is Ordered to Tokyo

Advanced American Field Headquarters, Korea, July 18 (AP)—Marguerite Higgins, New York Herald-Tribune correspondent, left last night for Eighth Army Headquarters under army instructions.

She said she had been ordered back to Tokyo and had been told she would be taken to Eighth Army Headquarters under escort. However, there was no escort.

Miss Higgins said last night in a telephone statement to Tokyo she would ask a review of the order.

"I'm going to Gen. Walton H. Walker's headquarters and try to convince him that I—as a duly accredited correspondent—am here as a newspaper correspondent and not as a woman," she said.

In New York, Whitelaw Reid, editor of the Herald Tribune said "we believe the decision to force her to return to Tokyo is wrong and unfair in view of the outstanding job of reporting she has done."

Reid expressed hope that the 30-year-old newspaperwoman would be allowed to continue her work.

Black—I don't know. But I do know she has made him a very good husband.

As Pegler Sees It

Incidentally, Congress had made no such judgment, but the gratuitous assumption that Congress had done so relieved the court of a degree of embarrassment in upholding a flagrant act of mass racial persecution.

"Exclusion of those of Japanese origin was deemed necessary because of the presence of an unascertained number of disloyal members of the group, most of whom we have no doubt were loyal to this country," said the majority. But these people were not a group. They were so many individuals. Like our Latinos of the southwest, which is a polite and friendly name for persons whose forebears were Mexicans, like our Negroes and some other racial and religious strains, they flocked together for social and psychological reasons but they were not a "group." But the more important fact here is that the Supreme Court upheld the deportation camps of legally blameless American citizens—all natives, by the way, because immigrants from Japan could not become citizens—who "we have no doubt were loyal to this country." Because Hashimuro Togo, an American school-boy, member of the high school ball-team, the band and the debating team, looked like a lot of other persons of the same racial stock, he could be railroaded out of his native town and dumped in the desert.

"We are not unmindful of the hardships imposed on a large number of American citizens," Black wrote, admitting outright that the qualification and definition which governed here was "Japanese ancestry."

It was an agonizing decision. Mr. Black and his brethren were up against a dangerous situation in which it was put to them to make a lot of rhetorical medicine to take the sting out of an act undoubtedly based on racial discrimination and guilt by association and resemblance, done in the name of a political party which had retained its power by pretending to abhor such.

duration all those reptilian fellow-travelers who try to confuse jurors with pleas of innocent association. If the Army in time of war says a notorious fellow-traveler must go to a concentration camp, he goes.

One slight technicality intervenes. We are not at "war" and this action comes under the authority of "war powers." Yet, as Alf Landon and others have noted, we have twice mocked the Constitution in making war without a constitutional declaration of war, first against Germany and now against North Korea. This being our attitude toward the Constitution and Communism being a conspiracy against the United States, the conspirators clearly are subject to arrest and detention with treason charges in abeyance, if "the proper military authorities" apprehend "the gravest imminent danger" from these enemies at large.

May Employment

Albany, N. Y., July 18 (AP)—A total of 5,492,300 persons were employed in non-agricultural work in New York state during May. The total represented an increase of 20,800 workers in the state, Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi said yesterday. Retail Grocers Ask Coordinator

New York, July 18 (AP)—A group of retail food store owners, calling recent food price rises "very serious," want President Truman to appoint a food coordinator.

The plea was made yesterday in a letter to the President from the Retail Food Merchants Association, which claims 500 members here.

A copy of the letter, released by association counsel Herman B. Glaser, said food prices were getting out of hand and that action is needed to prevent "another huge inflationary spiral."

The association said the coordinator should have "exclusive jurisdiction of all matters pertaining to food," among them profiteering, monopolistic practices, rationing and price ceilings.

After 5 Years, Evano Reaches Kingston

It took Sgt. Tyler Hughes (right) five years of battling red tape, plus another hitch in the army, to arrange for the passage to America of young Evano Braida, of northern Italy whom Hughes befriended while he was in Italy with the 85th Infantry Division. "He is like a son to me," says the sergeant. Evano, now 16, is staying with the sergeant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Hughes, Sr., at 235 Lucas avenue. He hopes to become a mechanic and is shown above practicing on the sergeant's car. (Freeman Photo)

Reporter About Town

By Jean Mele

"When I set my mind, nothing changes it." So says Sgt. Tyler Hughes, of 235 Lucas avenue, and he means it. Five years ago, serving with the Army in Italy, Sgt. Hughes set his mind to bring to America a 10-and-a-half-year-old Italian boy whom he had befriended.

The boy, Evano Braida, now 16, is in Kingston today, but it took: . . . Five years of single-minded effort, struggling against the red tape of bureaucratic nations in the United States . . . Innumerable visits to officials in Washington, New York and Rome. . . . Strings pulled and letters written by relatives and friends. . . . The sacrifice of a restaurant business. . . . Re-enlistment in the Army with a request to be sent to Italy. "He's like a son to me," says Sgt. Hughes, simply, in explanation. And even now, although Evano is in Kingston, making friends with kids his own age, and planning to go to Kingston High School in the fall, the effort isn't ended for Sgt. Hughes. He has two more years to go in the Army. "I'm going to try to get out sooner," he says, "but I don't know—with this Korea business."

Looks American
Evano, a good-looking, sun-burnt lad who speaks English very well indeed and looks very American with his hazel eyes, shy grin, blue jeans and sweatshirt, made only one comment during an interview, on the devotion of his friend. "I like it here," he said. Evano has taken America in his stride very calmly, because for five and a half years, all his schooling and most of his friends have been American. While attending American Military Dependents School in Italy, he heard about the United States from all sides and all points of view. He learned to know Americans and to imitate them, and he heard so much about America that nothing he has seen has surprised him in the least, he says. "He was excited by the big lights all over Times Square in New York," said Sgt. Hughes, "but mainly he just wanted to get on up to Kingston, New York, and meet my folks, and my friends."

The very American Evano has (unofficially) taken the last name of Sgt. Hughes, who is his legal guardian. He wears a silver identification bracelet around his wrist, (bronzed by the sun from swimming in the Adriatic Sea) similar to the bracelets worn by many G. I's. His ambition is to become a mechanic and start a business, maybe a gas station and garage. His hobbies are sports of all varieties. In fact, the only two clues a casual acquaintance could find to his non-American origins are the "o" on the end of his first name, and a trace of an accent which still lingers on his tongue.

Cleanest Kids
Sgt. Hughes first saw Evano when his outfit, the 85th Infantry Division, moved near Cividade, in northern Italy. Evano and his little brother "were the cleanest and best-mannered kids of the 13 or 20 who used to hang around the camp." Then he went to Evano's home and met his mother and his father, who worked as handyman for the Americans.

"I was on like that," said the sergeant, "and then when we moved into Cividade I took him in with me. We snuggled things around so that he lived right in Army quarters. He started wearing a uniform—like a mascot, only he wasn't a mascot. I was given charge of the regimental bakery school and he helped me."

Towards the end of 1945, I was coming back to the States for discharge. I tried to bring him with me, but I couldn't work it then. After I got back I went to Washington and New York and just about every place you can imagine, and I ended up back in the Army in Italy, but how could he have been sure that he would get back to Italy by signing up again?"

"It was a 90 per cent gamble," said the sergeant. "But I told everybody why I was doing it. Then when I got to Italy, I went to Rome with certain papers and requested a passport for him. It took about three years to get a passport from the Italian government, and then I had to get a visa from this country. My people and my friends did a lot of letter writing and we pulled just about every string you could pull to get the visa."

"You see, he stayed with me just like a son. He lived with us, slept with us. We were always together." Evano's parents were in favor of his going to America, Sgt. Hughes said. They hope to join him here later, and it will be advantageous for them to have a relative already here.

Right now, Evano is looking for a job for the summer, preferably a job with some connection with his love for mechanics. Later on, he plans to join the Army as an aid to winning his citizenship papers. He hopes to save up enough money to start his garage and gas station business.

As for Sgt. Hughes, as soon as he is out of the Army, he plans to resume the restaurant business he gave up to return to Italy.

"It will probably be out on the highway," he said. "My business and his business can be next door. A gas station with a restaurant."

Evangeline Booth Dies at Age of 84

Hartsdale, N. Y., July 18 (AP)—General Evangeline Booth, retired commander of the world-wide Salvation Army, died yesterday at the age of 84.

She had been ill for more than a year and spent the last few days before her death in a coma.

She was born in London Christmas Day, 1865, the same year her father, General William Booth, founded the army. She grew up with the organization and her lifetime almost exactly paralleled its growth.

As a little child she followed her father's footsteps as he preached in the Limehouse and Whitechapel slums of London—and was preaching there herself when only in her teens.

Later she carried the army's work into Canada and the United States. As head of the army's Canadian division she led a mission to the Klondike gold rush camps in 1898. Later she became an American citizen and was leader of the Army in the United States for 30 years.

In 1934 she was elected commander of the world organization, and retired in 1939. She was the army's first woman general.

The Siriono Indians of Bolivia are among the world's most primitive people.

Boys Took Exception

Johnston, R. I., July 18 (AP)—The Russian flag has been laid away at the Cranston Y.M.C.A. day camp as a result of what officials described as "a young rebellion" against displaying the hammer and sickle. The camp was given flags of the Big Five in the United Nations last summer. Each day the boys recited a special pledge of cooperation with the United Nations. Executive Secretary Andrew J. Reed said yesterday that when the Soviet flag was run up this season the boys protested. He said officials then decided not to display the flag "until the U.S.S.R. shows a little of the spirit of cooperation the American lads have shown."

Philadelphia Stars First Independent Opponent for Colonials

Negro National Aces Randall's 148 Paces Jaycee Qualifiers at Wiltwyck

At Stadium Thursday

The famous Philadelphia Stars of the Negro National League, one of the nation's greatest all-Negro teams, will meet the Kingston Colonials in the first independent game of the season on Thursday night, July 20, at municipal stadium.

A pre-war favorite of Kingston semi-pro baseball followers, the Stars will bring another powerhouse club to Kingston.

Colonial City Baseball, Inc. officials announced the attraction last night and said the game would be followed with an engagement against the New York Fire Department on Saturday and with the House of David on Wednesday, July 26.

Yankees Recall Sam Piacentino

Big Sam Piacentino, leading home run hitter of the Kingston Colonials, has been recalled by the parent New York Yankees and transferred to the Twin Falls, Idaho, club of the Pioneer League. This is a Class C circuit. Meanwhile, the Yankees announced the unconditional release of Pitcher Al Tefft. The hard-throwing right hander will always be remembered by Colonial fans for his sensational pitching against the Poughkeepsie Chiefs a few weeks ago, when he fanned two pinch hitters in succession—one of them Billy Ostrom—with the tying run on third base in the ninth. A 20-2 performer in the Virginia League in 1948, Tefft has been plagued by a sore arm ever since.

Elizabeth, N. J. — Arlie Diamond, 154½, New York, outpointed Jose Fernandez, 154½, Jersey City. (8.)

Major League Roundup

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

What goes with Brooklyn? Is this the big push? Are Burt Shotton's boys ready to take charge? Baseball fans ask these questions today because the sudden turnaround of Dodger pitching has jumbled the National League race. It's only one game from the Phils in first to the Dodgers in fourth. Last Thursday night, the Brooks trailed by 5½.

A week ago President Branch Rickey of the Dodgers moaned about the "worst pitching staff collapse I've ever seen." Now his crushing Brooks have a budding five-game streak.

In St. Louis, they're convinced the Dodger push is on. So far the Brooks have whipped the Cardinals 11 out of 14, the last seven in a row, including a day-night doubleheader yesterday.

Nine of 14 Brooklyn pitchers to face St. Louis have gone all the way—Preacher Roe—four times and Don Newcombe three.

Roe again! Roe did it again last night as the Dodgers crushed Howie Pollet, 7-1, after stumbling to a 6-3 afternoon decision for Dan Bankhead. The preacher man allowed only five hits for his 11th victory.

A four-run outburst in the first inning was enough for the Dodgers in the day game.

Gil Hodges, injured in the sixth inning of the opener, missed the night work, snapping his string of 328 consecutive games since 1948.

The double Cardinal loss let the Phils, sneaked back into first place. Then com St. Louis and Boston tied for second.

Bill Piro, a rookie from Indianapolis making his first big league appearance, was well on his way to success when Boston hung up a big five in the ninth and dumped Pittsburgh, 8-6. Piro wasn't charged with the loss.

That went to Hank Borowy who gave up a double to Earl Torgerson and a triple to Sid Gordon after relieving Piro.

Ralph Kiner hit his 26th homer.

tying Cleveland's Al Rosen for the major league lead.

Hearn Wins
Jim Hearn, making his first New York start since his purchase from St. Louis a week ago, held Cincinnati to four hits in an easy 10-3 romp. He retired 14 men in order and allowed no hits after the fourth.

Detroit boosted its American League lead to 4½ games by whipping the Philadelphia A's in a twilight-night doubleheader. The runnerup New York Yankees played only one game, edging Chicago, 4-3.

Charley Keller's pinch triple, a pinch single by Freddie Hutchinson and Jerry Priddy's timely single, helped the Tigers rally with three in the eighth inning of the 8-6 opener. Hal Newhouse won his 10th over reliever Carl Scheib. Saul Rogovin, making his third start, won the route for the first time in the 3-1 night game.

Berra Stars
Yogi Berra and Hank Bauer, a couple of Yankee crumples returning to action, took care of the White Sox. Although rookie Ed Ford didn't go all the way, he was around long enough to earn his first major league victory.

Berra broke a 2-2 tie with a two-run double in the seventh. Bauer drove in one run and scored two with a perfect three-hit night against southpaw Bill Wright.

Joe Dobson, an afternoon loser, came back to win on relief at night as Boston broke even in a day-night doubleheader with Cleveland.

Dobson came to the rescue of Maurice McDermott in the night game to win his 10th, 7-5, after losing the first 11-1.

Third baseman Eddie Yost made a sensational launching catch of a foul ball to put down a ninth-inning St. Louis threat and save a 3-1 Washington victory.

Frank Navratil Sold; Porter Gets Release

Other Deals on Fire For Colonial Players

OFF TO CAROLINA

FRANK NAVRATIL

The Kingston Colonials today announced the sale of right hander Frank Navratil to the Shelby, North Carolina club of the Western Carolina League, a Class D circuit.

The amount of cash involved in the transaction was not disclosed.

The club also announced the unconditional release of Harvey Porter, 25-year-old infielder who played most of the season at second base.

Had Good Record
Navratil, a former New York Giant farmhand, was acquired from the Shelby club on a look-see basis this spring. He won five games and lost two and flashed great stuff most of the way.

Porter had topped his batting average to .290 in recent releases and was acting manager for a few days during Manager Emil Gall's confinement.

Other deals were expected to be completed today with the Watertown club of the Border League and the Cincinnati Reds.

Final decision on a "package deal" with the Reds involving Rudy Karson, Charlie Apromonte and Johnny Manopoli or Artie Applebaum. If completed the package transaction will bring a tidy sum.

Kunze To Go
The Watertown club is interested in Bob Kunze, the curve balling right hander who is considered by some baseball men as the top prospect on the Colonial staff.

Kunze got off to a poor start this season and his final record was not impressive but the slim right hander possessed one of the best curve balls in the Colonial League.

Colonial officials kept the wires humming last night and also received a stack of telegrams from clubs throughout the country seeking help.

By nightfall tonight, the local front office believes it will have placed all of its players. Some outright releases are expected.

Robinson Faces Fine, Suspension

Scranton, Pa., July 18 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson is likely to find himself suspended and fined in Pennsylvania today but whether the National Boxing Association concurs is another question.

Robinson announced yesterday after undergoing a physical check-up by a Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission doctor that he would not go through with a fight against Jose Basora here tomorrow night. The 15-round fight was for the Pennsylvania version of the middleweight crown, held by Robinson along with his world welterweight title.

The slim Harlem Negro said he had a back ache. But Dr. Leonard M. Freda, commission physician, said he could find nothing wrong with Robinson after sending the boxer through an hour's workout and X-raying his back.

Chairman George Jones, Jr., of the commission stated before the examination that if Robinson didn't show up he would be given the heaviest fine ever assessed a fighter in Pennsylvania, suspending and suing for damages in behalf of the promoter and Basora.

Abe J. Greene of Paterson, N. J., commissioner of the N.B.A., said Robinson had told him last Saturday he would box Basora anytime after he defends his welterweight title against Charlie Fulton in Jersey City August 9 for the Damon Runyon cancer fund.

Scotch Pal First

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 18 (AP)—Scotch Pal and Roy S. split the honors in the $4,500 Glens Falls Trot, featured race of the grand circuit program at Saratoga Raceway last night. Scotch Pal, owned by E. J. Zayas of Du Quoin, Ill., and driven by Foy Funerburk, won the first division in 2:03, fastest trotting mile of the season here. That trimmed three-fifths of a second from the season mark the same horse set last week. Scotch Pal paid $2.60, $2.30 and $2.20. Kirov was second and Contralto, third.

DRAW RELEASE

HARVEY PORTER

The popular second baseman's organized baseball status was announced by Colonial officials yesterday as a flat "unconditional release." No details were given.

Porter batted .290 and was used as a second and third baseman. The 25-year-old infielder was signed as a free agent.

Match Play Starts in Women's Golf

Utica, N. Y., July 18 (AP)—Thirty-two women tee off today in the opening round of match play in the New York State Women's Amateur golf championship.

Pre-tournament favorites survived the qualifying round and blistering sun that beat down yesterday on the Yauhandasia Club's 6,000-yard course.

Mrs. Ann Winslow Cantwell of Saratoga Lake won medal honors with her four-over-par 81, topping a field of 72 entries.

Mrs. Cantwell, runner-up in the 1949 tournament, went out in 40 and back in 41. Women's par is 38-39-77.

The defending champion, Mrs. Ruth Torgerson of the Cherry Valley Country Club, Garden City, topped the field in the 1949 tournament, went out in 40 and back in 41. Women's par is 38-39-77.

Her score was topped by two other favorites, Mrs. Virginia Guilford Allen of the Syracuse Yacht and Country Club, and 18-year-old Barbara Bruning of the Whipperwill Club, White Plains.

Mrs. Allen, a former state champion, shot 43-40-83. Miss Bruning, who broke women's par for the Yauhandasia Course for the first time in her practice round qualified with 43-41-84.

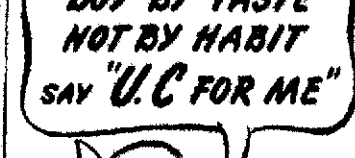

The tourney's youngest competitor, Jean Sorel, 13, of Oneida, made the grade with 48-52-100.

Bowlodrome Trounce Morgans, Five Teams in Pennant Scramble

Jones and Boulevards Will Clash Today

It may yet require the services of Prof. Albert Einstein to untangle the standings in the closing stages of the 1950 City Baseball League campaign.

At the moment five clubs are running a donnybrook for the pennant and only a game separates the five contenders in the important "lost" column.

Some sanity may be achieved this evening when Jones Dairy (7-2) meets Boulevard Gulf (6-2). The Gulfmen handed the Joneses their first setback several weeks ago.

Two of the league's top flingers, Bill Tierney of Boulevards and Tommy Fisher of Jones Dairy, will clash headon.

Bowlodrome Wins 6th Johnny Ferraro's Bowlodrome got into the act yesterday with a thumping 13 to 4 victory over Morgan's Restaurant.

The victory was the Bowlodrome's sixth in nine starts and put them in a triple tie for third place with Chez Emile and Old Capitals, a game off the pace.

Morgan's, meanwhile, suffered their ninth straight setback.

Jackie Watzka turned in another superlative job for the Bowlodrome, yielding only five hits and four unearned runs. He pitched six and struck out three. The unusually reliable "Red" Gossline had a bad day at third base with four miscues and virtually every bobbie figured in the Morgan scoring.

Has Early Lead

The Bowlodrome staked Watzka to a 4-0 lead in the first inning when they knocked starter Henry Levy out of the box. Jerry Bechtold and Manager Bud Zoller came on in relief with Bechtold taking most of the thumping, a six-run blast topped off the Bowlodrome's chores for the day in the fifth.

Darkness brought a merciful halt to the slaughter at the end of 3 1/2 innings.

Gossline made amends for his shoddy fielding by blasting three singles and driving in a trio of tallies. Mauro's single and triple accounted for three additional Bowlodrome tallies.

Veteran Vince Stoll had a pair of singles for Morgan's.

Shandaken Nine Routs Lanesville

Shandaken pounded Bud Smith for 13 hits to trounce the Lanesville A.C., 11 to 7, Sunday on the Lanesville diamond.

The home forces rallied for six runs in the bottom of the seventh and the home manager said "the only consolation we got out of losing the game was knocking Rybinaker out of the box." Could the boys be feuding?

Lanesville had scored six runs and had two men on with only one out, when Fletcher relieved Rybinaker and put out the fire.

Delamater and Rybinaker each pounded three hits for the visitors, while Rybinaker scattered the seven Lanesville safeties among seven players.

Chiefs Transfer Thirteen Players

Phil J. O'Hara, president of the Poughkeepsie Chiefs, who failed to attend the intermet services for the Colonial Baseball League, Sunday, last night reported placement of most of the members of the Tribe with other minor league organizations.

Manager Bob Doyle was given his free agency by the Chiefs and has reportedly signed with the Albany Senators of the Eastern League.

"It is my opinion," said O'Hara, "that the sale of the ball players will bring in a sufficient amount of money to bring the Poughkeepsie baseball club out of the red and balance the budget."

He said that Torrington has returned the contracts of shortstop John Battaglia, pitchers Lou Rosin and Carmen Donato, and outfielder Ed Musial. Waterbury returned the contract of first baseman Ed "Snee" Daniels.

Some of the transactions: Shortstop Carlos Santiago, outfielder Alan Thomaier, first baseman Bob Mather, and catcher Chuck Faughnan to Farmham of the Canadian Provincial League.

Pitcher Emil Moscovitz, Carmine Donato, Jim Kelly, shortstop John Battaglia and infielder Bob McKenna to St. Petersburg of the Florida-International League.

Catcher-pitcher Frank Eraca and outfielder Bill Polubiatka to Rome of the Canadian-American League.

Pitcher Joe Carruthers and pitcher Billy Holt to Danville, Va., of the Carolina League.

Outfielder-catcher Anton Gomez was unconditionally released.

Meeting Votes to Make Shady School Repairs

Woodstock, July 18.—At a special meeting held at the Shady School District No. 6, on Monday night, July 17, it was decided by a vote that improvements would be made on the school.

A committee appointed at the special meeting held April 26, 1950, submitted a report on facts obtained from visiting the Ontario Central School Board, the principal of the Woodstock School, the Shady School trustee, and from other reliable sources of authority. The report was concerned with comparative figures on taxes, methods and plans for transportation to the schools, contracts, pupil population, school building facilities, curriculum, extra-curricular activities, medical and dental services.

Mrs. William Moncreux presided at the meeting and the report was read by Walter Van Wageningen, Woodstock school principal, John Egan, Fred Cure, president of the Ontario School Board and Reginald Bennett, district superintendent of schools.

Another special meeting of the Shady School District No. 6 will be held on July 26, at which time it is expected that the decision will be made on centralization.

the hospital. They were treated at the scene by a doctor from Woodstock before the ambulance arrived.

The accident happened at the junction of Route 212 and the Glasco Turnpike. County Investigator Clayton W. Vredenburg, Deputy Sheriff Wesley O'Brien and Deputy Sheriff D. Sapp investigated for the sheriff's office.

Swerved Across Road
At the time of the accident the truck was traveling from Woodstock toward Saugerties. The truck swerved across the road in an effort to avoid the Frutier car. Officer Vredenburg said, and after the impact ran off the road, struck a pole and crashed through a stone wall fence on the northeast corner. The pole was broken and electric wires fell to the highway. Central Hudson men later made repairs.

Mrs. Frutier was coming from the direction of High Woods at the time. Her car was turned completely around and damaged considerably.

The driver of the truck, Edwin Francis, was not injured. He was William D. Harvey of Phillipsburg, Pa., who was riding with him.

Both the Woodstock fire company and Centerville firemen were summoned to the scene but the gasoline truck did not catch fire.

The truck was owned by H. L. France and Son, Pine Hill.

1,800 Will Get Tests in 3 Weeks

Albany, N. Y., July 18.—Physical examinations will be given 1,800 draft registrants, in New York state in a three-week period beginning July 27. Induction orders probably will go out less than a month later.

These announcements were made today by Brig. Gen. Ames T. Brown, state director of Selective Service.

The 1,800 total is exclusive of New York city, which is not within Brown's jurisdiction. The city has a quota of 1,203.

The group will be examined at induction stations of the Armed Forces. Brown said, "and although definite dates for reporting have not been sent to all of the boards, the examinations will begin on July 27 and will be finished in approximately three weeks."

'Fraud and Hoax' Better Teeth, Is ...

It accused McCarthy of having lied repeatedly. The majority said McCarthy failed to prove any of his basic allegations, which were fired at scores of individuals in attacks directed at the State Department. McCarthy accused the department of harboring a lot of Communists, Red sympathizers, and people who were security risks on other grounds.

Republican Senator Lodge of Massachusetts got out a minority report saying the inquiry into McCarthy's charges "must be set down as superficial and inconclusive." He said there remain "a tangle of loose threads" and leads which were not followed up.

Lodge also declared the tone of the investigation, as set by the Democrats, too frequently lacked impartiality, and the atmosphere "too often was one of trying to hang someone rather than to ascertain the truth."

The other Republican on the committee, Senator Hickenlooper of Iowa, filed no report but said he is in general accord with Lodge's ideas, "particularly the emphasis on the complete inadequacy of the inquiry."

One administration leader in the Senate said meanwhile that the Democratic policy committee might consider drafting a resolution calling for formal Senate censure of McCarthy on the basis of the majority report of the inquiry group. This source, who asked not to be named, said the matter might be discussed at a meeting of the policy unit today.

Hunt Brought to Jail

Freeman Hunt, Marlborough, was arrested by state troopers early today on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while his license was suspended. He was taken before Justice of the Peace R. E. Clark and a $25 fine or 25 days in jail was imposed. Hunt was brought to jail.

Sleuthing Pays Off In Brooklyn

New York, July 18.—The kind of sleuthing that pays off in detective stories trapped a real-life Brooklyn murder suspect yesterday—only 10 hours after the shooting.

Charles P. McCauley, a 25-year-old navy vet and hairdresser walked into Todd's clothing shop and asked the clerk to see some sports coats.

"You don't have to buy a jacket, Mac," he told McCauley, "Here's your old one."

And he held out a brown gabardine coat with bullet holes in it.

A few minutes later, police said, the young man admitted shooting 42-year-old William Callahan during a holdup getaway. The story behind the arrest, said by police, is this:

McCauley, who later claimed he needed vacation money for his wife and child, held up a taxi driver and took his cab, later abandoning it.

He walked over to a car where Callahan and another navy veteran, George Sifri, 22, were sitting and ordered them to drive him away. Callahan, the car owner, objected, and McCauley shot him dead—firing through the pocket of his coat.

The gas was low, and McCauley had to let Sifri pull up to a service station. Sifri grappled with McCauley, and despite an injured elbow put up such a strong fight that McCauley fled, leaving behind his jacket and gun.

When Sifri described the gunman as a sporty dresser, police checked the label on the coat and played a hunch. They entered the store at opening time. At 12:30 p. m. (E.S.T.) McCauley walked in.

Railmen Endorse Weiss for Post

Albany, N. Y., July 18.—With one reservation, the railroad brotherhoods of New York state today endorsed Norman S. Weiss of Albany for the Republican nomination for state attorney general.

Frank C. Columbus, state chairman of Railway Labor's Political League, said the Weiss endorsement was effective only if Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein were not a candidate for a third term.

Goldstein has said he is undecided whether to run again. He is known to be interested in the nomination for lieutenant governor on a G.O.P. ticket that seems certain to be headed by Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley.

Columbus said the brotherhoods, claiming about 160,000 members in New York state, favored a "liberal, broad-minded and progressive attorney" as head of the state law department. They believe, he added, that Weiss "has demonstrated that he has had experience that is consistent with the times."

Weiss is a son-in-law of Benjamin F. Feinberg, chairman of the State Public Service Commission and former Republican majority leader of the State Senate.

Weiss, a graduate of Cornell Law School and a World War Two veteran, has been research counsel and assistant to the Senate majority leaders, Feinberg and Arthur H. Wickes, since 1944.

Columbus is chairman of the state legislative board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers. He said all railroad brotherhoods were represented by the Political League.

Deception Play Hits 730-Point Jackpot

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Some deceptive plays cannot cost anything and may gain quite a good deal. Here is an example of such a play, taken from a recent team-of-four match.

In the first room, when the six of hearts was led, East played the ace of hearts, winning the first trick. He then returned the queen of hearts, and South allowed him to win. East continued with his last heart, and South won with the king of hearts.

Declarer then went after the diamonds, losing to East's king. At this point East could not return a heart and therefore had to give the lead back to declarer. Declarer easily made the rest, fulfilling his contract with an extra trick.

When the hand was played at the other table, Larceny Lou held the ace of hearts on the opening lead, Lou's first play was the queen of hearts.

This was a play that could not lose. If Lou's partner had the king of hearts, the queen of hearts would win the first trick. If South held the king of hearts, he was bound to win the trick with it no matter what Lou played at the first trick. The whole point of playing the queen first was to persuade South to take his king at once.

South could not afford to refuse the first trick. For all he could tell, the opening lead had been made from the ace-jack of hearts. In that case, South had to take his trick at once or he wouldn't get it at all.

Having taken the first trick, declarer went after the diamonds. Larceny Lou won with the king of diamonds, cashed the ace of hearts, and led a heart to his partner. This defense set the contract one trick.

The score in the first room was plus 630 for North-South. The score in the second room was minus 100 on the same cards. Larceny Lou's little deceptive play was worth 730 points.

Incidentally, you don't have to be an expert to use this play. You need the situation fairly often, and it's quite easy to recognize. The next time you have ace-queen-small of the suit your partner leads against notrump, play the queen first. As a matter of fact, if you hold ace-jack-small, the jack is often the best play on similar reasoning.
